Ike Reported "Unhappy" Over Interservice "Feud"

Senate Groups To Probe Fuss

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson reported today that President Eisenhower is "a bit unhappy that we don't seem to get along better in the services."

Also today, two Senate subcommittees announced plans to investigate Army-Navy-Air Force rivalry, and Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) said Congress itself may have to settle differences over basic defense roles.

Symington heads an Armed Services subcommittee which has been studying the relative air strength of the United States and Russia.

He said it has "started out with no intention of recommending roles and missions" for the military services, but now is inclined to believe that "we are going to have to make recommendations."

Wilson, Radford Call On Ike
Symington was secretary of the Air Force under President Truman.

The other subcommittee which announced plans for an investigation is headed by Sen. Chavez (D-NM) and handles appropriation matters.

Secretary Wilson talked to reporters after he and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, paid their weekly call on Eisenhower.

Wilson said the interservice rivalry seems to be "a rash that breaks out once in a while." He said emphatically he thought he could cure it. As for his next step, he said:

"We'll see who sticks their head up next. I think it might be a little dangerous."

Unnecessary, Wilson Says
Wilson had said yesterday, at a top-level Pentagon news conference, that he did not think a congressional investigation would do any good. He said today he still sees no need for one, but that of course is up to Congress.

Chavez announced: "We plan to have the high brass of all three services in here and ask them why it is they are bickering."

Actually, the top brass has disavowed much of the material which came out over the last weekend, purporting to represent the services' critical views about one another. It was reported that colonels and lesser officers were the sources. One Army document warned that current emphasis on air power would lead to "national disaster."

Dulles, Stassen Disagree On Red Arms Cut Motive

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles refused today to go along with Harold Stassen's statement that military manpower cuts announced by the Russians are "an initiative we wanted them to take."

Despite the hopeful face put on the Soviet move by Stassen, who is President Eisenhower's disarmament specialist, Dulles stuck to his guns.

Dulles repeated his statement of last week that the Russians, if sincere in saying they will cut 1,200,000 men from their armed services, are reacting out of economic, military and propaganda consideration—not in any genuine spirit of disarmament.

Egypt's Decision Deplored
Dulles spoke out at a news conference where he also said:

1. The United States regrets Egypt's decision to accord diplomatic recognition to Red China.

2. It is "unlikely that we would find it practical or desirable" to join Russia at this time in any cooperative financing of Egypt's proposed billion-dollar Aswan dam.

3. United Nations Security Council members are informally considering some sort of follow-up resolution to continue the momentum of the Middle East truce arranged by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. The resolution might be the first test of Russia's expressed willingness to join a U. N. settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute.

Aid Battle To Continue
4. The Eisenhower administration will try again in the Senate to get its proposed 10-year billion-dollar, long-range foreign aid authority, knocked out by a House committee. But the administration meanwhile welcomes the House Foreign Affairs Committee's statement, written into the foreign aid bill, that such aid should continue as long as the Communist danger continues.

Dulles made a point of emphasizing that, as he saw it, the Russians never disclosed in advance that they intended announcing a military cutback. Several times he made that point.

He even reported that, to double-check it, he had telephoned Stassen at St. Paul, Minn., last night. He said Stassen told him it was a case of "deductions and not disclosures."

Tot Struck By Golf Club Wielded By Her Father Dies

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—Two-year-old Barbara Anderson died today of a fractured skull suffered yesterday when she was struck by a golf club in the hands of her father, Danny L. Anderson, 22, who was practicing in the yard.

Neighbors said a train was going by at the time and Anderson apparently did not hear her come up behind him.

Johnson In Firm Control Of Tex. Democratic Party

DALLAS, May 22 (AP)—The Texas State Democratic Convention tonight shouted approval of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, as Texas' favorite son presidential candidate and head of Texas' 56-member delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

The demonstration virtually guaranteed a unified delegation that will back the Democratic nominees.

In the last election, the Texas party machinery bolted to Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower and carried the state into the Republican column for the first time since 1928.

The 4,000 or so jam-packed into State Fair Auditorium came to their feet in a howling ovation when Johnson walked on the stage.

"We are meeting today to dedicate ourselves to victory," the Senate majority leader said.

"Four years ago in Texas our

Adlai Raps Ike For Not Curbing Military Rivalry

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 22 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson tonight accused President Eisenhower of failing to exercise "positive leadership" to end bickering between the various branches of the military.

The Democratic presidential contender leveled his charge in Lake City, a way stop on a Florida campaign swing that led today from Miami through Tallahassee where he spoke on the State Capitol steps and at a Civic Club luncheon.

"I had hoped President Eisenhower, with his great military background, could be able to reduce rivalry and competition between the services," Stevenson said. He referred to Army-Air Force differences on effectiveness of Army antiaircraft guided missiles.

Stevenson said he believed that with positive leadership on the part of the President, the situation would improve.

Kefauver Urges Action To Assist Needy, Aged

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., May 22 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver called tonight for action rather than sympathy to help America's aged and needy in a talk capping a day of fast campaigning around the southern tip of Florida.

"I believed," Kefauver said, "that the foundation of good government is government with a heart, and not government by indifference."

In an address prepared for delivery over a television station here and in nearby Miami, the Tennessee Democrat bore down on Social Security in a state where many older people come to retire. It was a theme which Adlai Stevenson, his opponent in the Florida presidential primary next Tuesday, has sounded before.

Like Stevenson, Kefauver proposed full Social Security benefits for women at age 62 instead of 65. He called for public assistance to elderly homeowners to help them "retain their homes."

Eisenhower Aid Program Cut By Billion

Wilson Challenges House Committee Slash, Voted 18-11

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted today to slash more than one billion dollars from President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program.

The action was quickly challenged by Secretary of Defense Wilson, who appealed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to restore the funds.

"I don't think the people realize military assistance is an essential part of our defense," Wilson told newsmen as he emerged from a closed-door session with the Senate group.

The House committee vote was 18-11 in favor of a Republican-sponsored move to knock a flat billion dollars out of the three billions Eisenhower sought for military assistance to overseas allies.

Final Action Scheduled

This was in addition to 109 millions already trimmed from the $1,900,000,000 economic aid section of the measure.

Final committee action on sending the bill to the House floor is scheduled for tomorrow.

Wilson expressed his displeasure at the proposed cut with these words:

"I think it would be a great mistake to reduce military assistance by any such amount as a billion dollars."

"To cut it by one-third would be just as disastrous as to cut a third of our funds for our own defenses."

Secretary of State Dulles earlier today signaled administration intentions to fight for another proposal voted down by the House committee last week. He told his news conference the administration won't give up on its request for authority to make long-term economic aid commitments.

Policy Statement Substituted

Instead of this, the House group approved a simple statement of policy that if feasible U. S. foreign aid should continue as long as there is a Communist menace.

The measure under consideration sets fund ceiling and terms for the foreign aid program. Actual appropriations will be voted later in a separate bill.

In another action today, the House committee reversed itself and rejected Eisenhower's proposal for a special commission to study the basic terms of the whole foreign aid program. Committee members said Eisenhower has power to name such a commission himself if he wants.

Judge Delays Prio's Ouster

MIAMI, Fla., May 22 (AP)—A federal judge today stopped the U. S. Department of Justice from expelling Carlos Prio Socarras, a former president of Cuba, from this country immediately.

Judge Emmett Choate, in granting Prio a writ of habeas corpus, gave the Department of Justice five days in which to make charges against Prio in support of its order excluding him.

Choate said, "Every man is entitled to know what he is accused of. The charges must be specific. The evidence on which charges are based may be secret, but certainly the charges are not secret."

Prio and his aide, Rafael Izquierdo, arrived here by plane May 9 and reported they were thrown out of Cuba by the national police. They were notified Monday by the Department of Justice that their presence in this country was prejudicial to the public interest.

Pay-As-You-Build Road Plan Favored

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee voted today to put the proposed big highway program on a strict pay-as-you-build basis—a step that could delay its completion.

The committee took this action at the same time it approved increases in highway-use taxes. These would bring in an additional $14,400,000,000 during the next 16 years to help pay for the road program—the largest in the nation's history.

Most of the new taxes already passed by the House were approved by the Senate committee. But because the Senate group decided to soften the tax impact on truckers, the increases it voted fell 400 million dollars shy of the boosts passed by the House.

Truman Says Anzio And Salerno Battles Totally Unnecessary

Planned By 'Squirrel-Headed General'

SALERNO, Italy, May 22 (AP)—Harry S. Truman looked with an old soldier's eye today on the site of bloody World War II battle of Salerno.

The ex-President, a first World War artillery officer, then delivered his opinion that the battle and the later Anzio Beach landing were "totally unnecessary and planned by some squirrel-headed general."

Who the general was and where the ultimate responsibility lay were questions without answers tonight.

Truman, touring Europe with Mrs. Truman, was a U. S. senator from Missouri when the battles of Salerno and Anzio were fought by invading American and British troops in 1943-44.

Salerno was a quiet holiday village before the war and has become so since. Truman gave his negative opinion of the strategy behind the Allied attack of Sept. 8, 1943, after he saw the beach and the rugged cliffs behind it.

He told newsmen he didn't know who decided to launch the Allied attack on the Italian mainland at Salerno. The Allies had already conquered Sicily.

"Lot Of Easier Places"

"There were a lot of easier places that could have been picked," Truman added.

German guns hidden in the hills behind the beach took a great toll of the Allied landing forces of the U. S. 5th Army, including British units, commanded by the then Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark. The troops were part of the 15th Army Group commanded by British Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, now Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis.

Truman's criticism of the grand strategy of the Allied landings in Italy renewed an old controversy that has flared periodically since they were planned.

Gen. Clark, now president of The Citadel, South Carolina military college at Charleston, emphasized Tuesday that the landings were jointly planned.

Ike Gave Views In Book

Eisenhower has set forth his views on the Salerno and Anzio landings in his book, "Crusade in Europe." In it he said the Allied command picked Salerno after considering "every spot of the beach from Rome to the toe of the (Italian) boot."

The views of Eisenhower and his staff on the Anzio landing in January 1944, were expressed more emphatically in his book. He knew the operation would take place after his transfer to London to set the stage for the invasion of France.

Nevertheless, Eisenhower stated he objected to the Anzio landing during a conference in Tunisia with British Prime Minister Churchill and the new Allied commander in the Mediterranean, British Gen. Sir Henry Maitland (Jumbo) Wilson.

Eisenhower told the British leaders that landing two skeletonized divisions at Anzio, 100 miles beyond the existing front lines, was risky and would not necessarily force a German retreat. He warned the costs would be heavy and urged careful consideration of the whole plan.

But he added Churchill was determined to carry it out.

Compromise Sent To House On Voice Vote

"Second Round" Measure Closely To Ike's Pattern

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The Senate accepted a compromise version of the "second round" farm bill today, passing it on a voice vote and sending it to the House, where legislative action may be completed tomorrow.

The bill is tailored closely to President Eisenhower's pattern. Its big feature is a $1,200,000,000 soil bank system for paying farmers to cut down their production.

The bill was agreed upon by a Senate-House Conference Committee earlier in the day. Prospects appeared bright for a favorable House vote and for Eisenhower's acceptance of the measure as a substitute for the bill he vetoed April 16.

Top farm spokesmen for both parties were lukewarm in their comments on the compromise during the Senate debate, which lasted less than an hour.

Provisions Called "Fair"

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Senate-House Conference Committee, contented himself with explaining the provisions of the agreement and calling them "fair."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, commented: "Although I do not believe the bill will be nearly as effective as some of its advocates hope, I do believe it is the best that can be secured at this session of Congress."

Ellender said the biggest trade in the conference was the Senate's agreement to drop its provision that the soil bank need not be put in operation this year in return for House acceptance of generally lower price supports for feed grains.

House Soil Bank Plan Wins
One of the main reasons why Eisenhower killed the first farm bill was that it provided for a return to high, rigid price supports for basic crops.

As for the soil bank, the House had voted to require Secretary of Agriculture Benson to start it operating this year; the Senate had said only that he should do so to the extent practicable.

Although the House language, accepted by the conferees, directs Benson to start the program this year, it is not expected to get into full swing until next year, because much of the nation's crops have already been planted.

Ellender and Rep. Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, reported the compromise on feed grains would insure supports of at least 76 percent of parity this year for oats, rye, barley and sorghums, without any planting or marketing restrictions.

Not "Must" Measure

However, some Congress members have held out slight hope for increased postal rates in this election year, and the measure has not been listed by House leaders as "must" legislation.

The administration's big argument has been that the boosts are needed to offset the Post Office Department's operating deficit, now running nearly 500 million dollars a year.

An estimated $432,200,000 in additional revenue a year would be produced by the committee-approved increases.

18 Reported Killed In Italian Bus Crash

ROME, May 23 (INS)—Eighteen tourists were reported killed and 15 injured tonight in a bus accident in Northern Italy.

The bus left a road near Bolzano and plunged into a stream.

There were 40 passengers aboard the bus, an Austrian commuter vehicle.

Nike Scores Hit On Drone In Missile Demonstration

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M., May 22 (INS)—One of two Army-launched, radar-controlled Nike guided missiles promptly scored a hit today on an Air Force-dropped jet drone in a demonstration at the White Sands Proving Grounds.

The Nikes were fired within seconds of each other at the speeding drone which was dropped from a "mother" B26 plane during a public showdown of the Army's controversial missiles program.

The test before some 100 newsmen brought to 1,651 the number of Nikes launched into the air at White Sands in the last 11 years and came as top brass in Washington attempted to head off an interservice dispute over guided missiles between the Army and the Air Force.

In a wraps-off tour of the proving ground, the Army fired the Corporal guided missile, the Honest John missile and the Nike, around which the heated controversy is raging.

Army officials conducting the tour steered clear of any mention of the interservice controversy, but many were obviously on edge over published criticism of the Nike program which has produced this country's major weapon against possible air attacks.

One officer objected to a claim he said he heard that the Nike could not be controlled. He declared:

"We can make the missile turn in a figure eight."

White Sands project officer, Lt. Col. J. P. Hamill, expressed complete confidence in the Nike. He said:

"The Nike has knocked down every target presented to it."

AKRON, Ohio, May 22 (AP)—The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., today announced development of a barrel-shaped aircraft tire which permits light planes easier landings and takeoffs in rough fields.

Escaped Convict Sought After Accidentally Killing Buddy, Kidnaping Officers

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—Searchers turned a rural settlement near here into an armed camp today in a building-by-building hunt for an escaped convict who held two detectives captive during a bullet-punctured, seven-mile ride yesterday. The fugitive accidentally killed his buddy at the end of the ride.

Police, using bloodhounds, swarmed through the area around Boomertown, a community seven miles west of this southwestern New York city, in search of the armed man, James Carter, 32, of Rochester.

A light airplane hovered overhead.

Carter left the body of his friend, John Dedrick, 23, Corning, slumped over the wheel of a police patrol car last night and fled through a maze of sheds in an oil and lumber yard.

Carter, an automobile thief and three times convicted, had escaped with Dedrick from jail at Watkins Glen Saturday night. They robbed a filling station owned by an undersheriff, stole an automobile belonging to a part-time patrolman and fled west.

The pair abandoned the car in nearby Sugar Grove, Pa., and came to Jamestown, about 125 miles west of Watkins Glen. Dedrick Whalen tried to question them on the street here last night about a burglary and detectives were investigating.

Carter and Dedrick whipped out revolvers, shackled the policemen with their own handcuffs and forced them into the back seat of the patrol car.

With Dedrick at the wheel, the pair raced towards Boomertown. Police gave chase.

Carter fired between the detectives' heads and out the rear window at the pursuing vehicles.

As the car bounced through the lumberyard, Carter's revolver discharged. The bullet struck Dedrick in the side of the chest.

The two detectives said Carter ordered them out of the car and, as they zigzagged toward the nearby sheds, fired at them.

"Thank God he was a terrible shot," one detective said.

Dedrick had been in jail to await trial on a burglary charge. Carter was awaiting sentencing on a grand larceny charge in the theft of a truck.

Symington Dark Horse In Demo Nomination Race

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 22 (AP)—Missouri Democrats apparently are going to give Sen. Stuart Symington the benefit of a full-course run for their party's presidential nomination at the Chicago national convention.

With former President Harry S. Truman keeping a discreet hands-off attitude, Symington is scheduled to get the solid backing of Missouri's 38-vote delegation at a state convention here next week. Truman, now touring Europe, will have no active representation in the state meeting.

The convention action will put the tall, handsome senator from Missouri in a favorite son classification peculiarly his own. He will be in the middle ground of a prospective party fight over the school integration and other civil rights issues.

Unlike his colleague, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Symington is a favorite son who would be acceptable to labor and Northern elements of his party if the lightning should strike in his direction.

Symington supports the Supreme Court's decision for racial integration in the schools. But since he is from a border state his views are somewhat more acceptable to potentially bolting Southern delegates than those of some other prospective nominees.

Although 14 of 17 editors of Associated Press member papers in Missouri said in a survey they favor Symington as the party's nominee, eight of these predicted Adlai E. Stevenson would get the prize against seven who thought Symington might win it. Two foresaw the nomination of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Couple Wanted Big Family But Not All At Once

DETROIT, May 22 (AP)—When Jim and Betty MacFarlane were married in August 1954, they both said they wanted a large family.

Twin boys, Christopher and Kimberly, arrived May 13, 1955. Triplets, two girls and a boy, arrived last night.

The newest members haven't been named.

MacFarlane, a service station attendant, sighed: "We wanted a big family, all right, but not all at once like this."

Lawyer To File Graham Appeal

DENVER, May 22 (AP)—A court-appointed lawyer for condemned murderer John Gilbert Graham said today the case will be appealed to the Colorado Supreme Court whether Graham likes it or not.

John J. Gibbons told newsmen he will go with Graham's 22-year-old wife, Gloria, to visit her doomed husband in death row at the state penitentiary, Canon City, Thursday.

"If he still says no," Gibbons said, "I shall ask for a transcript of the record and then will file a brief with the Supreme Court."

Graham was convicted of first-degree murder May 4 in the death of his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55, one of 44 persons who died last Nov. 1 in the explosion and crash of an airliner near Longmont, Colo.

The prosecution contended during the trial that the 24-year-old Graham placed a dynamite bomb in his mother's luggage shortly before she boarded the plane at Denver.

The day after the jury brought in the verdict and fixed the penalty at death, Graham signed an affidavit in which he asked to be executed in Colorado's gas chamber as soon as convenient.

Ike Says Nation Needs Older Citizens' Wisdom

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the nation needs an older person's wisdom and experience as much as a young man's energy.

He urged that steps be taken to give older citizens an opportunity to continue their usefulness to their communities.

"The skills, wisdom and experience of our older citizens are traits which our nation needs fully as much as the energy and boldness of youth," he said in a letter to Rep. Hosmer (R-Calif.).

Hosmer is the author of several measures to spur housing, employment and other means of self-help for older persons.

Sobeloff Wins Support

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Solicitor General Simon E. Sobeloff won the support of Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) and Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) as he concluded testimony before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee today on his nomination to the 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Student Claims He Was Hit First In Fatal Scrap

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Gregory M. Delli-Pizzi testified today Dr. Richard M. Wick struck the first blow in a hotel lobby fight which resulted in his death last February.

Delli-Pizzi, 26-year-old medical student, took the stand to defend himself against a charge of murdering Wick in a fight over a night club dancer. The dancer, Charlotte J. Holland, 27, was engaged to Delli-Pizzi then and now is his wife.

Wick, 52-year-old metallurgist from Allentown, Pa., died in a hospital Feb. 18, two days after the incident. He suffered a fractured skull when his head hit the lobby floor.

Delli-Pizzi told a Criminal Court jury he had been trying to talk to Wick to protest that his fiancée had been annoyed by his attention.

"He struck me in the stomach and rushed at me," Delli-Pizzi testified.

"I shouted 'No, No.' He was so big, all I could see was his neck. He was pushing me. I grabbed on to his lapels. When he hit me I don't know whether it was reflex or not, but I struck him."

Mrs. Delli-Pizzi testified earlier that she saw Wick punch first.

Convicts Agree To Risk Cancer

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 22 (AP)—Ninety-six Ohio Penitentiary convicts have volunteered to risk cancer in a scientific study of the disease, it was announced today.

A call for 25 volunteers was issued Saturday in the Ohio Penitentiary news, a prison publication.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said between eight and 12 volunteers will be selected by Dr. Richard H. Brooks, prison hospital medical director, as the first group to be injected with live cancer cells.

The research project will be conducted by the Sloan-Kettering Research Institute of New York City and Ohio State University's College of Medicine.

Researchers hope the study will provide information on how the noncancerous individual's body reaction kills off foreign cancer cells transplanted into it.

Alvis said that about 40 per cent of the 96 who volunteered supplied reasons why they did so. A majority said members of their families died or were suffering from cancer.

"About four or five simply said they had been stinked all of their lives and wanted to do something worthwhile," the warden added.

Randolph Reelected President Of ITU

INDIANAPOLIS, May 22 (AP)—International Typographical Union headquarters said today nearly complete, unofficial returns show Woodruff Randolph, president, re-elected to a seventh term with other present officers.

ITU said reports from 625 of 785 locals give Randolph 39,174 votes to 30,590 for Laurence H. Victory, New York. A total vote of about 80,000 is expected.

The margin of Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer, over George Bante, Chicago, was 40,637 to 28,129.

Iranian Student Faces Deportation

MIAMI, Fla., May 22 (AP)—An Iranian medical student who dropped his studies at Davis-Elkins College at Elkins, W. Va., was being kept in custody today while waiting for a deportation proceeding.

A U.S. Immigration Service spokesman said the student, Geni Parandeh, 24, came to this country in 1952 to study medicine. He dropped out of school in February of this year and later was questioned at the Pittsburgh immigration office.

Parandeh then came to Florida, apparently to seek work. He reported to the Tampa Immigration Service office to check on the status of his stay in the United States, and was kept in custody for the deportation proceeding.

Economic Activity Stable Last Month

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The Commerce Department today reported economic activity remained stable in April, continuing generally on the high plateau reached midway in the boom year 1955.

The department's survey of current business said declines in some major activities were about offset by rises in others.

Failure of automobile sales to show the usual spring pickup in April and of residential construction to rise were among major activities cited as slow by the department last month.

The survey said total construction activity, with commercial and industrial building continuing to rise, aided in offsetting the relatively even pace of residential building and declines in automobile output and sales.

Germs Causing Lung Infections Show Increase

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Strange kinds of germs causing persistent lung infections are showing "alarming increases," a Wisconsin researcher reported yesterday.

Some cause illness resembling tuberculosis, but they are not TB germs. These germs are possibly of a new kind, or else are simply being recognized more accurately now.

They are found in persons hospitalized as having TB, or sometimes other lung illnesses.

An upswing in incidence of these new infections was reported at the opening of the National Tuberculosis Assn.'s 52nd annual meeting by Dr. Marie L. Koch of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Wood, Wis.

In a 15-month period laboratory studies detected 156 cases of these infections among TB patients, and 142 among persons hospitalized for nontubercular illness, he said.

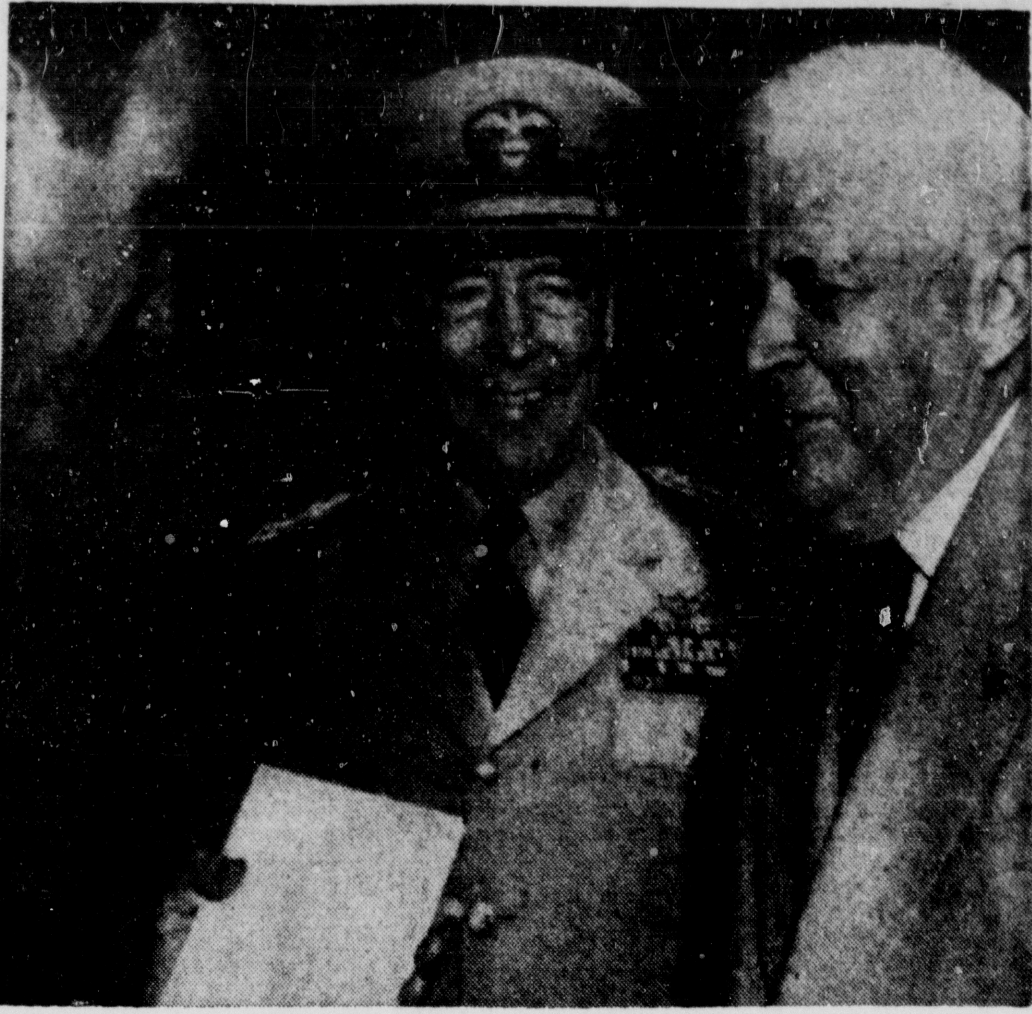

Among TB patients, 125 had persistent infections, as did 60 of the non-TB patients, she said. The infections were far more common in the late fall and early winter than other times.

TB experts attending the convention said the American Trudeau Society and Veterans Administration are cooperating in a study to identify these "new" strains, and to learn what illness and damage they may cause.

Detection of similar nontubercular germs in 69 patients was described by Dr. Horace E. Crow of the Battey State Hospital, Rome, Ga. The main symptom was cough, and 65 per cent of the patients were chronically ill, he said. They appeared less infectious to other persons than typical TB patients, he added.

Suicides Blamed On Rainy Weather

VIENNA, May 22 (AP)—A leading Austrian psychologist today blamed the abnormally cool and rainy Whitsun weather for a record number of suicides in Vienna over the past holiday weekend. Eleven persons took their lives here in 24 hours.

Dr. Hans Hoff, Vienna University professor, explained that sudden changes in the weather, especially rain and low temperatures, bring increased nervousness and mental depression among sensitive persons.

This, he said, added to the fact that people felt cheated when their holiday was rained out doubtless led some to end their lives.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of house-keeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non-slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Dry Spell And Frost Retard State Crops

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 22 (AP)—Maryland farmers are having their troubles as usual with the weather.

Lack of rain and a frost last week retarded or caused serious damage, the Maryland Crop Reporting Service said today.

Here is a summary issued by the service:

Field crops: Planting of corn still lags a week behind last year. Only about half has been planted. About one-quarter of the soybean crop is in. Rye is making good progress. Wheat is beginning to head on the lower peninsula and in Southern Maryland. In Central Maryland, it is a week behind.

Hay and pasture crops: Insect damage shows considerable increase alfalfa and clover fields in Central Maryland. Bugs are worse than ever. On the Eastern Shore, clover and alfalfa is being cut for hay. Both hay crops and pastures continued to be short.

Vegetables: Asparagus cutting was in full swing in Central Maryland. Cool weather slowed production. Earliest varieties of cabbage were heading on the lower Peninsula, but in Western Maryland they were just being set out. Fields of peas in Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester counties were in full bloom. Tomatoes, snap beans, and lima beans were affected seriously everywhere except Southern Maryland by freezing weather. Replanting has started in many places. Sweet corn, cantaloupes, cucumbers and watermelons have been cultivated in early fields.

Fruit: Killing frost caused serious damage to apples and peaches in the Hancock area. On the lower Eastern Shore, strawberry picking was starting.

Hopes Revived For Toll Bridge To Assateague

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Owners of more than 4,000 lots on Assateague Island had their hopes revived today for a bridge on which to reach their property.

The Public Service Commission told the Assateague Island Bridge Co. it could build the bridge over Sinepuxent Bay and charge tolls still to be determined.

It would be the third private toll bridge in existence in Maryland. The others are at Sparrows Point near Baltimore and across the Potomac River in Western Maryland.

The commission have the corporation four months in which to contract for the bridge and until Dec. 31 to start it. Otherwise, the authorization will expire.

People have been buying lots on the island for five years in a development known as Ocean Beach and promoted by Leon Ackerman of Washington. But building has been minor with only two small ferry boats providing access from the Worcester County mainland.

The development stretches 15 miles along the Atlantic Ocean. It is south of the Ocean City inlet.

The corporation proposes to finance the bridge by selling $1,001,000 shares of stock. The Public Service Commission reported that as of last week, "almost one half of the total cost of this project had been subscribed or pledged by the lot owners, to whom this bridge is of primary importance."

It concluded construction of the bridge "is consistent with public convenience and necessity."

The Legislature three years ago authorized private construction of a toll bridge to the island, but the promoters at that time failed to post a performance bond.

Some objection to a private toll bridge has been raised, but the Legislature in February refused to prohibit them. It also rejected a request that the State Roads Commission consider erection of the one to Assateague.

Baltimore Firm Low On Bridge Project

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—The Empire Construction Co. of Baltimore submitted a low bid of $882,157 today for a major bridge project in Montgomery County.

The project calls for construction of a dual three-span continuous steel girder bridge on re-located Maryland 196, the Columbia Pike, over Paint Branch, one mile northeast of White Oak.

Man Who Served Prison Terms In Deaths Of Two Women In Court Again

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP)—Lloyd D. George, 34-year-old mechanic who has served prison terms twice since 1947 in connection with the deaths of two women, was in court again today on a charge of choking another with intent to kill her.

"I'd like to plead guilty to the charge, but not with intent to kill her," the Ohioan told Magistrate Howard L. Aaron. The magistrate said the charges couldn't be separated and ordered Lloyd held for the grand jury after entering a plea of innocent for him.

The charge was based on a complaint by Grace Mansfield, 27, who showed scratches on her throat which she said were inflicted in a struggle with George in her apartment Sunday night.

"His attack was unprovoked," she testified. "He didn't strike me, but grabbed me by the throat. I ordered him to leave, and he said to me:

"My name's Lloyd George. Does that make any difference?" "I said no it didn't and again told him to get out. He told me: 'I've killed two women and one more won't make any difference.'"

Actually, she told Magistrate Aaron, the name did mean something to her.

"I'm an avid detective story fan, and I recall reading something about a man by that name killing a girl several years ago."

Police testified George served 18 months in 1947 after the body of Doris O'Brien was found floating in Baltimore harbor. He was convicted of manslaughter, although circumstances of her death were not pinned down at his trial.

Police said he also was convicted in 1952 as an accessory in the death of Mrs. Ann Mary Finnigan.

40. Her body was found in a woods in suburban Glen Burnie. George supplied the information. His sentence was three years.

His common-law wife, Miss Della Blanche Poulsen, was convicted of manslaughter. She was sentenced to five years.

Miss Mansfield said her screams when George tried to choke her attracted relatives from another apartment and he fled. He was arrested last midnight driving an automobile with Ohio plates. Police listed his home address as Walton Hills, Ohio.

Miss Mansfield said she met George in a tavern and he took her home in a cab after visiting several others.

Three Men Held For Selling Wildfowl

SALISBURY, May 22 (AP)—Three Dorchester County men today were ordered held for action of Baltimore Federal Court on charges of illegally selling wildfowl.

U. S. Commissioner Lewis C. Merryman set bail of $500 each for Albert Parks, 25, Cecil Parker, 37 and Irvin Rippons, 38, all of Hooper's Island.

All three were released after posting bail.

Charges of conspiring to sell wild ducks were dismissed for lack of evidence against Parks, his father, John A. Parks; Parker; Albanus Phillips, 29, and Carl Shockley, 27, also of Hooper's Island.

Labor Relations Becoming Major Religious Specialty

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

The steady hand of the church today lends many a soothing touch to the sore spots of labor-management relations.

It's becoming a major religious specialty.

Many priests, ministers and rabbis now devote full time to it. Scores of schools and institutes on the subject have been set up by various denominations. Clergymen in force, have moved into the mediation arena.

Activity in this field is a "growing concern" among Protestant, Catholic and Jewish bodies, said the Rev. Dr. Clair M. Cook, Columbus, Ohio, associate director of the National Religion and Labor Foundation.

Although a few lone clergymen led the way, most of the organized denominational programs for coupling religious insights to labor negotiations have developed in the last 10 years.

"It's now on a more planned basis," said Father John M. Corridan, New York's waterfront priest who since 1946 has roved the conference rooms—and the docks—helping to iron out longshore disputes.

In many other industrial areas throughout the country, clergymen have become familiar figures as consultants, conciliators and arbitrators. Some hold public posts to handle the tasks.

Ministers, employers and labor leaders also have started getting together regularly, at meetings sponsored by local or national agencies, to share information and ideas.

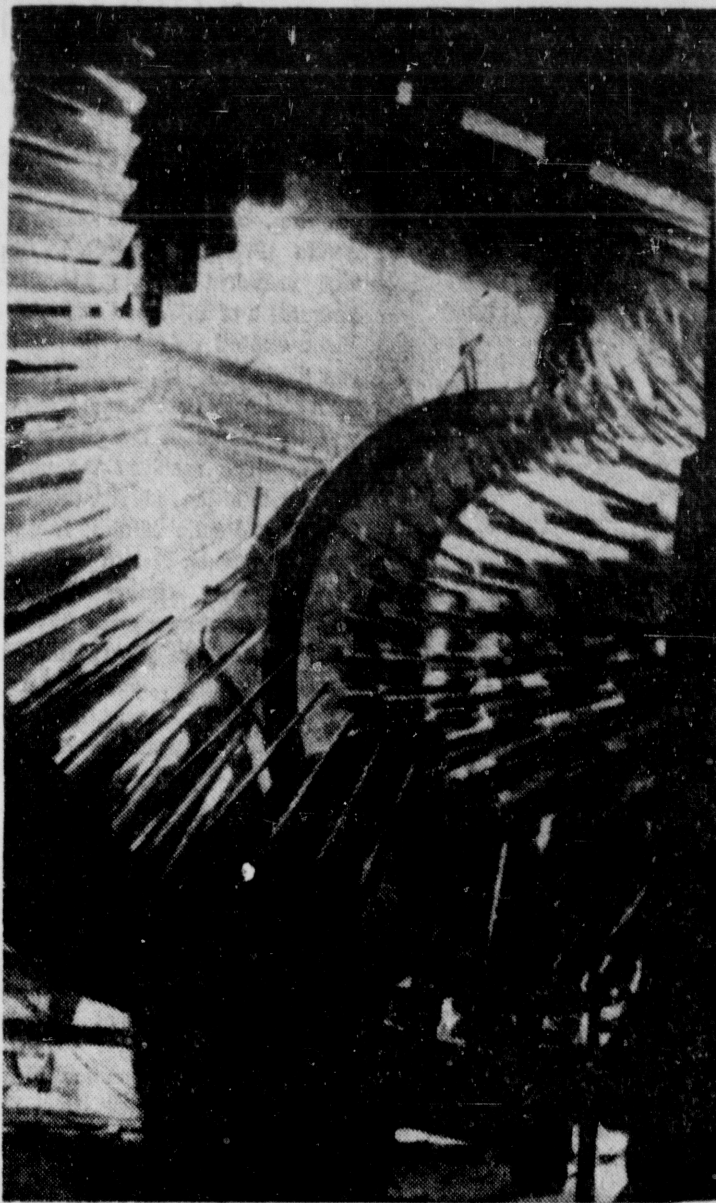

It's a two-way street, with clergymen learning the problems and complexities of industrial relations, and, in turn, offering religious approaches toward finding solutions.

More than 100 Roman Catholic labor schools now are operating, many of them started since World War II. Here are a few examples of similar church programs that have grown up during the period:

The Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. has established industrial relations institutes in Pittsburgh and Chicago. Dean Marshall Scott, of the Chicago school, runs a year-round program for ministers and seminary students—of classes and factory-job experience.

Three years ago, the Methodist Theological Seminary of Boston University set up a similar summer program, to get seminarians and ministers acquainted with labor-management problems.

The American Lutheran Church last year set up a church-industrial relations department, headed by the Rev. Theodore J. Pretzlaff, to conduct seminars for ministers and labor leaders across the country.

Barred By Bar, Appeal Granted

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The Supreme Court has granted a hearing to Raphael Konigsberg who was denied the right to practice law in California because, bar examiners said, he refused to say whether he ever had been a Communist.

Konigsberg lives in Los Angeles. His appeal said the California Committee of Bar Examiners rejected his application on the grounds he had not sustained the burden of proof to establish that he does not advocate overthrow of federal and state governments by violence. The committee also found he had failed to establish the good moral character required by the State Bar Act.

Konigsberg's appeal said his rights under the U. S. Constitution were violated by the denial. Counsel for the Committee of Bar Examiners opposed a hearing for Konigsberg in a brief which said he refused to state whether he was now or had ever been a Communist.

The committee said it took into consideration articles written by Konigsberg for "The California

New Graduation Feature Added

ANNAPOLIS, May 22 (AP)—The Naval Academy will initiate a new feature in its colorful graduation ceremony this year.

An academic procession of civilian faculty dressed in their academic robes and hoods and the use of newly acquired mace will be part of the predominantly military ceremony this year.

Mathematics Professor Richard P. Bailey will be marshal for the academic procession this year and will carry the mace to its place on the rostrum as the official academic symbol of the occasion.

Dr. William S. Shields, educational advisor to the Academy superintendent, suggested the idea of the mace. The academic procession, a commencement feature at the most civilian institutions, was approved for the Naval Academy by both Adm. Walter F. Boone, former superintendent, and his successor, Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg III.

The mace is constructed of a fluted walnut staff containing a bronze reproduction of the Naval Academy seal.

The 1956 class of 681 midshipmen will receive their degrees and commissions at commencement exercises June 1.

WHY ARE SO MANY PEOPLE saying that Frigidaire is the refrigerator sensation of the year?

Here's one big reason—the way the shelves roll out, so that every item comes into view, and within easy reach. The corners—the full area of every shelf—are usable, with nothing in your way.

All through Frigidaire, you'll find that things are done better—and that you get many features which no one else provides at all.

In this fashion-first Cold-Pantry Model, for example, you get a cascade of ice cubes by a quick push on the ice tray. Just invert it—slip into a handy slot, and bingo! 27 cubes tinkle down into their sub-zero storage bin.

If you'd like an inventory of your crisply fresh vegetables, it's done by a glance at the Picture Window Hydrator in the door.

Or just touch a foot pedal—the bottom door opens—to 168 pounds of frozen foods that are really frozen.

And with this—and many other modern features—you get Frigidaire's basically sound refrigeration. It's done with the simple, dependable system—"Flowing Cold" that ends stagnant air, as well as defrosting in the refrigerator section.

Certainly you should see your Frigidaire Dealer to know how modern a refrigerator can be.

Four cards opposing the introduction of fluorine into the city water supply were recognized and filed.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan was authorized to ask bids on a used 1956 car for use of the Police Department.

Council approved payment of $250 to Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra to defray expenses.

Purchase of two property easements involved in flood control work were approved. They include William A. and Marion D. Gunter and Edith C. Finner.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said his department installed 29 new meters last month and made 22 new taps; installed 460 feet of four and six-inch pipe. There were 11 applications for taps and 18 for meters last month, he added.

The Outdoor Club, in a letter, commended council for its stand opposing a proposed rate increase by the C&O Gas Company.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said Finan and County Attorney Gorman E. Getty will attend a hearing in Baltimore today before the Public Service Commission on the gas firm's request.

He is Carl Taschenberger Jr., 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Taschenberger, 531 Winifred Road. He is a member of Troop 23 sponsored by the John Humbird School Parent-Teacher Association.

The award will be presented at the 11 a. m. Sunday service at St. John's Lutheran Church of which he is a member. It will be bestowed by Rev. Frederick J. Eckert, pastor, who worked with Taschenberger in carrying out the requirements of the award.

The Lutheran Scout who wins the Pro Deo and Patria Award must be second class rank or higher, and among other things must devote 150 hours of service to church and community in at least three different activities, complete a project for the church, have knowledge of church liturgy and other church information, and give evidence of daily Christian life and practice.

This is only part of the requirement which Taschenberger had to fulfill, according to Willis V. Smith, Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, executive.

His achievements were passed on by the Lutheran Committee on Scouting, Minneapolis.

Scouts of other faiths may qualify for awards from their specific churches. Protestant Scouts have the God and Country Award, Catholic Scouts, Ad Altare Dei Award, and Jewish Scouts, the Ner Tamid Award.

Taschenberger is a Life Scout and served as a member of the staff at Camp Potomac last summer. He attended the Citizens Now Conference at Bucknell University this past winter as one of the four representative scouts of Potomac Council.

A freshman at Fort Hill High School, he is a member of the school band.

First National To Display Coins

A valuable coin display is on exhibit at the First National Bank for its opening of remodeled quarters this week.

The bank, completely modernized, will have an open house for the public on Saturday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The coin exhibit includes old silver dollars, a valuable gold collection, and proof sets.

Valued at several thousand dollars is the collection of five gold 1915 Panama Pacific Commemorative coins owned by Alfred Jacopi of 209 Greene Street, local numismatist who loaned them to the bank for the opening.

One silver dollar, an 1836 proof coin, is worth $500, and another, 1804 vintage, costs in the thousands on the coin market today.

The oldest silver dollars are dated 1795, 1797, 1798, 1799, 1800, 1801, 1802 and 1803.

Proof sets, which are original coins that never have been placed in circulation, are also exhibited.

The 1936 set, with a penny, nickel, dime, quarter and half dollar, is valued at $260 today. The 1956 proof set is worth $2.85 which is $1.94 more than its actual value.

The First National, founded in 1811, was remodeled by the George Construction Company with plans furnished by the Cunneen Company.

Blue Ribbons Are Awarded At Camporee

Approximately 600 Boy Scouts of Potomac Council, attended the council camporee held over the weekend at Camp Paradise at Deep Creek Lake.

Willis V. Smith, council executive, said the 600 total exceeded the 535 boys and leaders who attended last year's event at Big Run State Forest.

Fourteen of the units participating were given blue ribbon awards for camping. They were judged on camping skills, cleanliness, and participation in camporee activities.

The rating was handled by judges who remained anonymous until the results were announced.

Top camping units were: Troop 31 and Explorer Post 31, both sponsored by the Oakland-Mountain Lake Lions Club; Troop 70, Mt. Lake Park Parent-Teacher Association.

Troop 27, Keyser Rotary Club; Troop 6, SS. Peter and Paul School PTA; Troop 1, St. Luke's Lutheran Church; Troop 54, Walden Methodist Church, Piedmont.

Troop 38, Queens Point VFW Post; Troop 26, Lonaconing Rotary Club; Troop 23, John Humbird School PTA; Troop 13 and Explorer Post 13, First Presbyterian Church, this city; Troop 37, Keyser Presbyterian Church; and Troop 11, LaVale Baptist Church.

Robert Long, Oakland, camporee director; Fred Tichnell, Oakland, his assistant; Elmer Uphole, Deep Creek District commissioner, and Rev. J. J. Atwell, Deep Creek District chairman, were in charge of the arrangements.

Protestant church services were held at the camp by Rev. Don Jackson, minister of the Crellin Methodist Church.

For Catholic Scouts, a field mass was said by Rev. Charles Quinn, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Church, Westernport.

SS Peter, Paul Church Picnic Will Be Planned

Plans for the annual SS. Peter and Paul Church picnic will be made at a meeting of workers Thursday, May 31, at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

Edward Allen is chairman of the picnic which is conducted by the SS. Peter and Paul School Parent-Teacher Association.

An initial announcement of the outing was made at the final PTA meeting of this term on Sunday in the parish hall.

In other business at the meeting, Mrs. George Miller, president, appointed an auditing committee comprised of Norman F. Geatz Jr., chairman, Mrs. Robert King and Mrs. Jacob Tisarcik.

Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of the church, expressed his appreciation to the PTA for its cooperation and assistance during the year.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, September 16, at 3 p. m. in the form of a social. Mrs. Herman Grabenstein Jr. is chairman of the event.

Officers to be installed then are Bert A. Mason, president; Mrs. Charles Sloan, vice president; Mrs. Patrick Stakem, financial secretary; Mrs. William Harrison, recording secretary, and Anthony Struntz, recording secretary.

The attendance award was won by Sister Gabriel's Seventh Grade room.

India Interested In Everything That's American

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Everything in this country, from panty raids to salaries paid our professors, is of interest in India today.

And the land that produced Gandhi has imported another hero: Abraham Lincoln.

The authority for this is Clifford Manshardt, who first went to Bombay in 1925. Except for 10 years out to teach at the University of Chicago, Manshardt has been in India ever since. For the last three years he has been with the U. S. Information Agency there.

Since Manshardt's job is to sell this country, it pleases him to find such widespread interest. And as an old-timer there, it also astounds him.

"When I first went to India," he said, "hardly any attention was paid this country at all."

"Education, for example. In 1925 all an Indian going abroad could think of was either Oxford or Cambridge. Now we have 7,000 applications for 90 Fulbright scholarships, and hundreds of other Indians are studying here on their own."

One of Manshardt's jobs is to address collegiate gatherings.

"The questions they ask show their interest. Usually the first is from one of the teachers. Wants to know what we pay our professors here."

"Someone else will wonder about panty raids. They don't have coeducation there, you know. Oh, there may be 25 girls among 1,000 students. So, with the panty raids as a starting point, I'm asked: 'Isn't coeducation a sure road to immorality?'"

As for Lincoln, Manshardt isn't sure how he has built up his popularity so far from home. But he says his picture can be found in a surprising number of schools and homes. On Lincoln's birthday, the film "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," was a big hit.

"Amazing," Manshardt says, "what Lincoln means in that country."

But if the interest is great, so is the ignorance. An Indian who may buy the argument that Russia has abolished poverty, Manshardt says, may be completely unaware of U.S. Social Security or private pension plans.

Soviet Churches Filled To Overflowing, Russian Baptist Says

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—A Russian Baptist reported today the churches of the Soviet Union are filled to overflowing and he thinks there is a genuine search for religion there.

As to the Communist government's position on religion, Jakov Zhidkov chuckled and said through an interpreter:

"You'll have to ask the government."

Zhidkov is president of the All-Union Council of Evangelical Christian Baptists in Russia. With four other Russian Baptist leaders, he is returning a visit made by four American Baptists to the Soviet Union last August.

The delegation, which also includes a woman, Klaudia Trytova, staff secretary of the All-Union Council, is here attending the Executive Committee meeting of the Baptist World Alliance.

Zhidkov, bearded and 70, said the Russian Baptists are pleased with their growth, are converting from 10,000 to 12,000 persons a year, and now have 500,000 members as compared with 100,000 at the time of the Russian Revolution in 1917.

He said the Soviet constitution gives every Soviet citizen the freedom to worship or to be anti-religious. Church people, he added, are not too disturbed by the propagandizing of the atheist groups. Rather they feel the position is stimulating, he said.

As to the position women hold among Russian Baptists, Zhidkov replied there is no discrimination. "Women are on the same level as men, and there are some women preachers heading congregations."

Asked if being a church member was a handicap in getting a government job, he replied that since everyone in Russia works for the government the church has members in government employ. But he could only come up with a few instances of church members in high government posts.

At the conclusion of the Executive Committee meeting, the Russians will go to Richmond, Va., as guests of the president of the Baptist World Alliance, Dr. Theodore Adams.

A Thread Of Hope From Difficulty

Difficulties experienced in getting off the recent but frequently postponed "Shot Cherokee" H-bomb test at Bikini could be regarded as a sign of hope. Civilized peoples the world over cling to the hope that the holocaust of full nuclear power may never be unleashed upon the planet.

Seven postponements of "Shot Cherokee" lent some support to the belief that this fervent prayer will be answered.

Total weapons are awesome, but they give serious pause to those who wield them as well as to their victims. They have serious self-limitations.

Poison gas, a vicious and temporarily effective weapon in World War I, was withheld from action on every front of World War II by both sides, partly because of fear of retaliation, partly out of politico-military considerations, and partly because it can under certain circumstances be as destructive to friendly as to enemy forces.

Poison gas is no longer regarded as an effective weapon, either offensively or defensively.

Consider, then, the significance of the prolonged hangfire on "Shot Cherokee." Even in the wide and desolate expanse of the Pacific Ocean it could only be set off under ideal conditions. Otherwise it could have backfired. Ideal conditions cannot be ordered.

Operations conducted under the stringent logistical timetable of modern warfare cannot wait on them. The hour of the strike must be set far in advance, and the stroke must be delivered at that hour regardless of weather conditions.

Imagine, for example, an unfriendly force staged on the European mainland, attempting to launch an H-bomb invasion of the British Isles. The consequences of a shift in the wind might devastate all of Europe with radioactive fallout.

There is indeed a threat of hope that the very fury of the new total weapon may spare man from mass suicide in spite of himself.

These Days

Food And Friends

Japan has been short of food since the Meiji Revolution (1868) opened the modern era of that country's history. The food question has always been uppermost in the minds of Japanese statesmen, as only 20 per cent of that country's land is arable and as the population increased, it was necessary to import larger quantities of rice, wheat, and soy beans from other countries. Many Japanese thought that the best solution for Japan's shortage of food was to conquer Manchuria. That the Japanese did in 1931, but it proved to be a mistake because the United States objected to it and Japan became, in time, involved in a devastating war which brought only defeat.

Since then Japan not only lost all the territory acquired subsequent to 1931, but also Formosa which had come into Japanese possession in 1895. From Formosa, Japan had obtained tea, sugar and other food products.

So, the United States has been contracting to sell Japan sorely needed foodstuffs from our vast surpluses. This has stirred up a tirade among the Communists, particularly in Peking, where plans have long been afoot for a Marxist revolution in Japan based on an inadequate food supply. The Chinese International Service in radio broadcasts in Japanese devoted itself to a lengthy attack on the United States for imposing upon Japan barley, rice, cotton, tobacco, corn and wheat. According to this Chinese report, Japan was forced to accept $200,000,000 of American food.

The comment on this was:
"One of the U. S. colonial policies at present is to force the Asian and African countries to import U. S. surplus foods. With the sale of these surplus foods, in conjunction with the so-called MSA military aid under the Mutual Security Act, the United States is attempting to bring under its control the national economy of the recipients. By this device, the United States has concluded three agreements on surplus foods with Japan, beginning in March 1954."

Most of these products do not grow sufficiently in Japan. Some of them, before the war, were imported from Manchuria, North China, French Indochina, Siam and even from the United States. My memory goes back as far as 1919 when I listened to lengthy discussions in China and Japan on the subject of food and the means for improving the food supply of the Japanese people. One of the principal foodstuffs of Japan is fish and the Japanese are being crowded off the ocean by Soviet Russia and the United States and South Korea. This is a much more serious problem to the Japanese than imports from the United States granaries.

One complaint now being made is that the Americans are trying to get the Japanese to eat bread and drink milk. True, these are novel foods for the Japanese but I can recall when one of the most serious problems discussed in that country during the 1920s was how to make the Japanese taller and all the food experts advocated drinking milk.

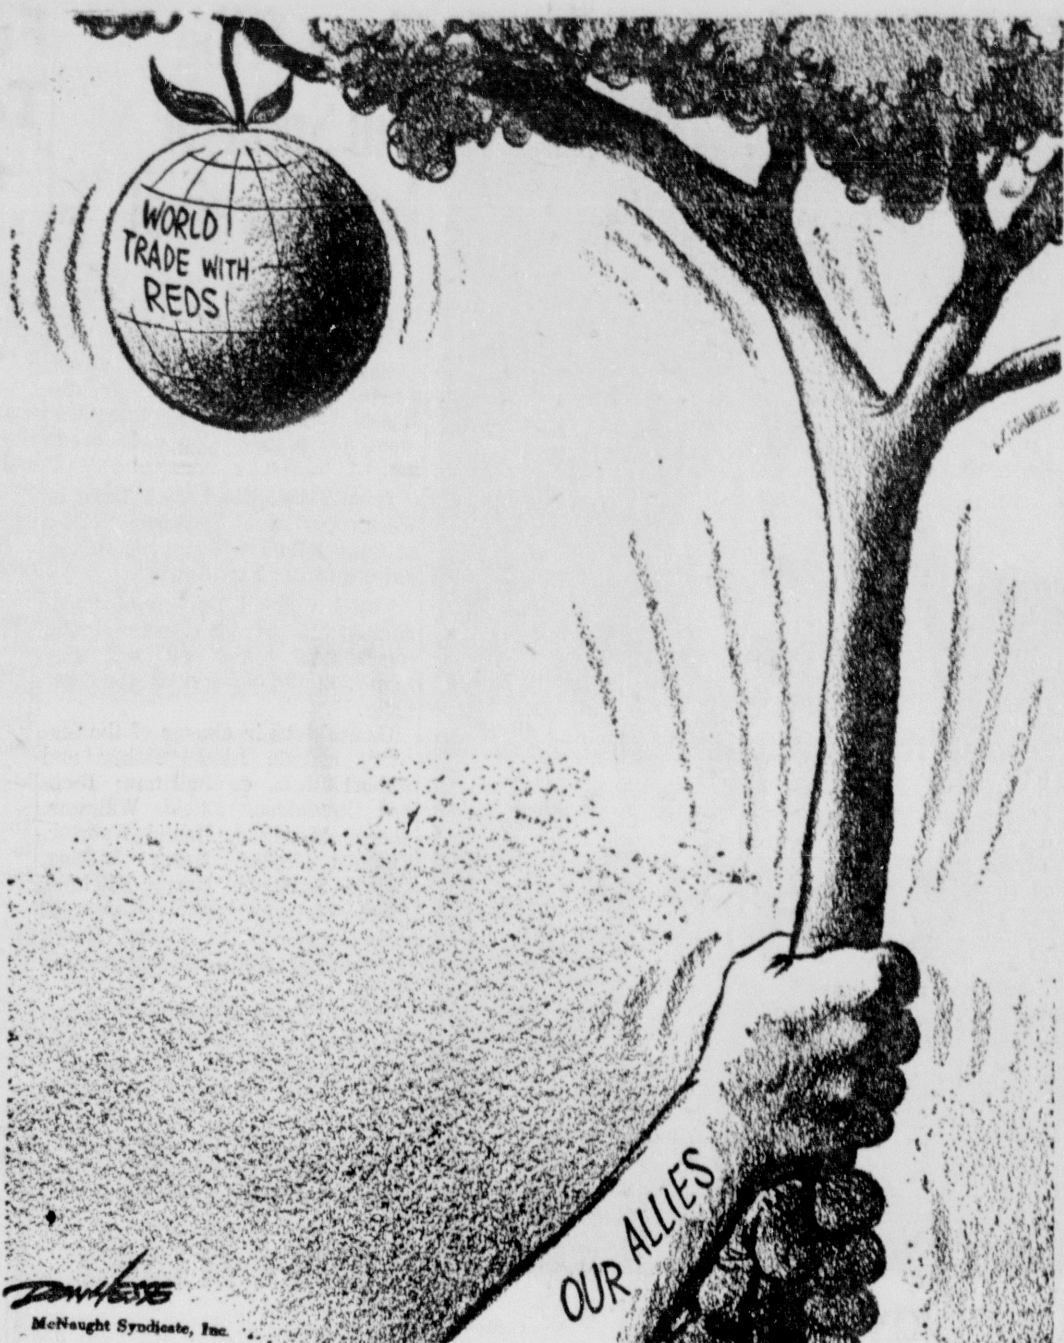

What the Peking Chinese must be worried about is that they had been hoping to barter Manchurian wheat and beans, Honan cotton and tobacco for Japanese machinery and other manufactured products. It would be a novelty for any Chinese to worry about the Japanese with whom they have quarrelled since the 1880s.

It is difficult to get at precise figures for current international transactions, but it would be interesting to know exactly how much this food contract amounts to and at what prices the food was sold to Japan and whether the Japanese are getting credits, or grants or are paying in some manner. In a word, is the transfer of these food stocks a kindness on the part of the United States to the Japanese people who need to eat better than they do? Arrangements should be made to restore Japan's fishing rights in adjacent waters. The Japanese eat fish as we in the United States eat beef. To deprive Japan of fish is to leave the people without the principal food to which they are accustomed.

But to say that a country that is only 20 per cent arable with a constantly increasing population, which was not self-sufficient in food supply during its most progressive and prosperous periods, can be self-sufficient today is utter nonsense. Yet such is the constant propaganda that comes out of Peking.

Shaking The Tree Again

Egypt's Red China Action A Direct Slap At U. S.

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Egypt is the first member of the United Nations to recognize the government of Red China since the Korean War.

This simple fact tells the tragic story of how the United Nations has failed to secure even among its own members acceptance of the moral principle that a government which is an aggressor must atone for its crime or show in some way its repentance for an evil deed.

For unless moral law can prevail, nations will inevitably resort again to military force to deal with aggressors.

Armistice Objectives Not Reached
Today the extension of recognition to Red China is a violation of the principle that the aggressor must not be given moral support. The record shows that any government this side of the iron curtain which recognized Red China did so late in 1949 or early in 1950 — the last being Indonesia on April 13, 1950 — but all of them before the aggression in Korea and before Chinese Communist intervention occurred in the later months of 1950. Among the governments which had previously extended recognition are Great Britain, Israel, the Scandinavian countries, the Netherlands, Switzerland and eight other free nations.

The United Nations itself on February 1, 1951, however, adopted a resolution which condemned the Red China government for engaging in Korea and called upon "all states and authorities to refrain from giving assistance to the aggressors in Korea."

To this day the Red China government has refused to allow the United Nations to carry out the objectives of the armistice which was to bring unification to Korea and make a treaty of peace.

There is at the moment a state of war in Korea between the United Nations and the Red China government.

ernment. So when Egypt extends recognition it is not only dealing a body blow to the prestige and influence of the United Nations but is taking a direct slap at the United States, which lost 33,000 killed and 110,000 wounded in the Korean War — all for the cause of collective security and the ideals of the United Nations.

It is ironical to hear Premier Nasser of Egypt and some of the spokesmen of Asian countries, like Nehru of India and Sukarno of Indonesia, berating the Western powers for "colonialism" and yet failing to condemn the biggest and latest example of ruthless colonialism the world has ever seen—the Soviet conquest of Red China. Last week U.S. News & World Report published excerpts from a copyrighted book entitled "The True Story of Red China" by Lucian Taire, a European businessman who has just come out of Red China after 30 years of continuous life there and who writes:

Grave Illusion

"The gravest illusion afflicting Western attitudes is the belief that China is a free agent, that it can be circumscribed and contained, perhaps even weaned from the Soviet Union. The fact is, China has been conquered almost as thoroughly as if there had been a direct Soviet military invasion, followed by the establishment of a Russian-model military government that could control the cumulative power of 580 million people.

"The outside world is not fully aware of, or ignores, the fact that slaughter on a stupendous scale accompanied the much-lauded Communist land reform. For more people were killed in China during this historic shift of economic control than died in Russia during the bloody forced collectivization. Not only were the exploiters executed but those guilty through association — children and other relatives — also were wiped out or sent to the slave-labor camps

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Secretary Wilson's last statement listened neat as a first-aid kit wired for sound.

Charley denied our air power was running further behind than a carriage dog down to its last spot.

Charley catalogued the Senate after General LeMay buzzed 'em that Russia would top us in 1960 sure as wax in your ears. Things sure have changed since Billy Mitchell got his come-uppance for throwing strikes with a crystal ball.

Now we get both the desk-power and jet-emulsion sides of every defense question. It's better to have 'em dove-tailed than pigeon-holed.

We've got to keep as alert as a cat in a barn. Without getting over-confident like a lion-tamer without a chair.

We figure it's good for everybody when these arguments take place. Just like when the doctor tells you to take exercise. The outside stirs up the insides.

Democrats Throw Monkey Wrench Into Their Convention Machinery

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The Democratic National Committee, already harassed by a threadbare treasury and bleak chances in November, has deliberately thrown a monkey-wrench into its own machinery.

Neal Roach, who was supposed to arrange for the fast-approaching national convention at Chicago, has just resigned in a personal row with Chairman Paul Butler.

Not only has this thrown plans for the Chicago convention out of gear, but it may result in a drastic reshuffle of the Democratic National Committee, possibly even the exit of Butler.

The situation is so serious that ex-President Truman sent a page-and-a-half cable from Europe protesting the resignation of Roach. Leslie Biddle, another party stalwart, is also blazing mad at Butler for letting Roach resign; while Col. Jack Arvey, leader of Democratic forces in Chicago, is irked at Butler for various reasons.

The funny thing is that the crisis occurred over a lady—Miss Frances Spivey, Roach's secretary.

Butler would not permit Miss Spivey to go to Chicago to work with Roach, and Roach refused to work without her.

He pointed out that organizing a national convention is a back-breaking job that requires personal familiarity with who-is-who in the Democratic party. He couldn't, said Roach, do the job with a secretary hired in Chicago who didn't know the score. Miss Spivey has handled other conventions, worked long hours in preparing for them.

But Chairman Butler said no.

It's now the chairman's next move. He has to get someone out to Chicago to start organizing for what will be one of the most important conventions in Democratic history—and he has to do it quick.

Mr. Kiades Waited

The regular stenographer scheduled to transcribe the toasts of President Eisenhower and President Sukarno of Indonesia got sick at the last minute, so hurried phone calls were made to recruit a substitute.

Mrs. Alice Kiades of Alexandria, Va., finally obliged, though protesting that she should not leave a sinkful of dishes, a hungry husband, and two sleepy children.

"You can get back to your husband by 9 p. m.," reassured officials of the Indonesian embassy.

Looking down from the balcony of the Mayflower Hotel at President Eisenhower and President Sukarno, she found work both prolonged and complicated. First, the toasts turned out to be full-dress, though impromptu speeches. She had to take down every word, then transcribe the record afterward.

"My husband will never believe this," Mrs. Kiades kept saying, half-aloud, as the clock ticked past 9 p. m., then 10 p. m., then 11 p. m.

"My husband will never believe this," she repeated as the clock reached midnight and she thought of that sinkful of dishes and the hungry, if not irate, Mr. Kiades.

Finally the Indonesian staff photographed the dinner menu to show where she was, gave her a bottle of champagne, and at 1 a. m. the obliging Mrs. Kiades went back to the sinkful of dishes. Mr. Kiades did believe her.

Changing Congressman

One of the most interesting figures in Congress who has wielded power, both good and bad, over the schools, the libraries, and the labor laws of the nation, comes up for re-election this week.

He is Congressman Graham Barden, the charming, sometimes crusty Democrat from North Carolina, who as chairman of the Labor and Education Committee was able to block the minimum wage bill for months last year. He did this simply by calling no meetings of his committee.

Congressmen, being human, sometimes change. As they get older they change more. That seems particularly true in the case of Graham Barden.

Some of the most constructive legislation helping human beings bears his name—the LaFollette-Barden Act for the rehabilitation of the blind; the George-Barden Act for vocational training in high schools; and quite recently, the Library Service Act that will provide 27,000,000 rural Americans with the books now available to city-dwellers in public libraries.

At one time Barden was a root-in-totin booster for aid to education; also the most aggressive House defender of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Now he's hanging back on school construction and has completely reversed himself on public power.

Barden has become so crusty and irreconcilable on public power that he actually paid $1,200 out of his own pocket to construct a power line to his new home on the edge of New Bern so he wouldn't have to get current from city-operated public power.

This didn't go down well with the people of New Bern, who have had a city power plant for years. They attribute it not to the fact that Barden is chummy with Louis V. Sutton, president of Carolina Power and Light and spoke at the dedication of the company's new plant at Goldsboro. They just think their congressman is getting cantankerous.

That's why for the first time in years he has real opposition in the Democratic primary. Running against him is live-wire 33-year-old James O. Simpkins, who got the local Jaycee man-of-the-year award and whose Jaycee vehicle safety-check program won national awards from Look magazine and the National Safety Council.

NOTE—Barden will probably win out in the final balloting, but the competition is such that he has sent Kennedy Ward and Fred Hussey, both paid by the taxpayers to work on the Labor Committee in Washington, back to New Bern to work on his political campaign.

On The Line

By Bob Considine

ABOARD U.S.S. MOUNT McKINLEY — (Delayed) — (INS) — Looking back on it, there was one thing that could be said (and wasn't) about the wedding of Prince Rainier and Grace Kelly. It went off on time.

The delays in the busting of the H-bomb took on a comic flavor that wasn't in keeping with the stern nature of the weapon itself. But such is the antic nature of man. The phrases of the weather bulletins did their best each morning and night to sound optimistic, but finally they reached the point that would have stumped and confounded the glibbist ad writer on Madison Avenue. Finally, they had to leave out the predicates for fear of saying something that could be pinned down. So unpinnable became their predictions that the printed form would not submit to pinning against the green felt of the bulletin board in the ward-room.

Pained Weather Observers

One night we stayed up for a notice that said in effect that Tuesday looked so good for the bomb drop that it had been postponed until Wednesday in order to clear the decks for Friday, after which there might be a Saturday drop. It recalled the old gag of the kid with size ten feet whose dogs felt so comfortable in elevens he ordered twelve. It recalled also Ring Lardner's classic business which went, more or less, "Although Jones is a very bad hitter he is also a very bad fielder."

But the authors of the weather reports were equally pinned. When any mortal gets this far home there is only one desire—from the top fellow down—and that is to get home.

Proper Weight Important For Expectant Mothers

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A mother of two from Grand Rapids, Mich., writes: "Most women put on too much weight during pregnancy. I am just the opposite and usually add less than five pounds during the entire nine-month interval. I am pregnant again and want to know what I can do to take on the 20 pounds my physician says I should."

This is going to be a job because many slim persons find it difficult to increase weight under any circumstances. Ask your physician to prescribe one of his best tonics and eat meals rich in calories, vitamins, and minerals. This is important because proper nutrition during pregnancy reduces the incidence of miscarriage, stillbirth, prematurity, and toxemia.

In this respect, too little poundage is as undesirable as too much.

The key to success is to be of normal weight at the time of conception. Statistics show that the nutritional status of midday prior to pregnancy is the determining factor along this line. Underweight women produce smaller babies and tend to give birth prematurely or develop toxemia.

Drs. J. T. Downs III and S. A. Alexander, of Dallas, studied 67 women who failed to put on 10 pounds during pregnancy. Of these, 28 were of average weight or below when they conceived. There were complications in 16, varying from premature delivery to the death of the infant. The babies averaged 5.9 pounds in contrast to the 7½ pounds of the average newborn child.

These complications did not occur in women who were fat to begin with but who failed to gain more than 10 pounds during pregnancy. This demonstrates the importance of the initial weight and why women who are below par when they conceive should make an effort to attain normal nutrition.

The ideal weight addition during pregnancy is 20 pounds over the normal weight. When the woman is too heavy at the beginning, low calorie menus are recommended to start the slenderizing process during the early months of pregnancy. These diets seldom go below 1,000 calories and are fortified with vitamins and minerals.

When the woman is of normal weight, the ordinary well balanced diet is adequate. If she gains too heavy and exceeds her 20 pound allotment, changes are in order.

No one knows why some women remain slim during pregnancy. They may have an obscure metabolic disorder in which food is not absorbed properly or is burned up too rapidly. In any event, more rest is indicated.

TOMORROW: Job rashes.

LOW WHITE CELLS

H. W. writes: What kind of a disease is leucopenia?

REPLY
Leucopenia is not a disease; it means reduction in the number of white blood cells (less than 5,000). This finding exists in a variety of diseases including viral infections, influenza, metal poisoning, over-exposure to X-ray, and atomic radiation.

DEHYDRATED
L. S. writes: Is it possible for a woman to lose her ability to cry? I used to weep a lot but nowadays cannot squeeze out one tear.

REPLY
Yes. Life may have taught you to meet your adversities in a mature fashion. On the other hand, your crying mechanism may not have been put to the test recently by a trying situation or a catastrophe.

DEAFNESS IN CHILD

Mrs. B. writes: My doctor examined my 14-year-old daughter and found she is somewhat deaf in one ear. Can anything be done to prevent deafness from getting worse?

REPLY
The outcome in your daughter's case depends upon what has caused the hearing loss. An expert opinion by an ear specialist is suggested.

SPREADING GOITER

B. W. writes: Can a person have an inward and outward goiter at the same time?

REPLY
Yes. An enlarged thyroid can grow in all directions.

DEMONSTRATIVE SPECTATOR

H. B. writes: I know a 25-year-old man who, while watching television or an exciting movie or game, gets so excited he makes facial expressions, covers his eyes, and laughs real loud even though the scene may not be funny to anyone else. Sometimes he has to walk away to control himself. Have you any explanation of this behavior?

REPLY
There are extremes to all reactions. Some individuals have no imagination or sense of humor whereas others have too much.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Hale and hearty at the age of 80, George Moore, famous Irish novelist, startled everybody by his continuing clarity of thought and physical well-being.

"To what do you attribute your great good health in your 80th year?" asked a reporter.

Moore replied cheerfully, "It's because I never smoked, drank, or touched a girl until I was almost 11 years old."

Mr. Elbogen was napping in his easy chair—snoring a bit, too—while the new maid tip-toed about, cleaning up. When she came out into the kitchen, Mrs. Elbogen was waiting to check up on her.

"Adele," she demanded, "are you sure you watered my hanging plant in the drawing room?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Adele emphatically. "If you listen close you can hear it dropping on Mr. Elbogen's head."

Pa. Turnpike Rates To Change Friday

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 22 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today rejected a proposal to postpone a 41 per cent increase in automobile tolls on the super-highway. The boost will go into effect Friday as scheduled.

A 20 per cent reduction in truck fares will take effect on the same day.

The vote was 2-1 against a plan by Joseph J. Lawler, secretary of highways and commission member, to put off the revisions until at least July 15.

The passenger car rate of $3.25 from the Valley Forge interchange to the western terminus of the toll road will go up to $4.75 while the truck rate would drop from the present $20.50 to $17.

The pari-mutuel machine was invented by a Frenchman named first American killed at the Battle of Oiler in 1865.

Mongold's No-Hitter Puts Moorefield In State Tourney

Jackets Beat Martinsburg In 3-1 Battle

Mongold Faces 24, Fans 13, Racks Up 7th Straight Win

Harold Mongold hurled Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets into the West Virginia state scholastic baseball tournament at Parkersburg, May 28, 29 and 30, when he knocked out Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs with a no-hit performance as Coach Jonathan Paugh's Yellow Jackets took the Region 4 title yesterday at Romney. The score was 3-1.

In registering his 7th straight win of the season for the unbeaten Hardy County team, Mongold faced only 24 batters in the 7-inning contest, issued only one base on balls and moved down 13 Martinsburg ash welders via the strike-out route. An infield error coupled with a sacrifice and a muffed fly in the outfield netted the Berkeley Countians their unearned run in the second inning.

Mongold got sweet revenge for defeats suffered at the hands of Martinsburg in the Region 4 finals of 1954 and 1955 when Ronnie Smallwood blanked the Jackets by scores of 1-0 and 7-0.

Cop 12th Straight
The victory was the twelfth in a row for Moorefield which won the Potomac Valley Conference crown with a 10-0 mark and defeated Elk Garden in the Region 4 semi-finals by the score of 7-1. Coach George Whitacre's Bulldogs won the Tri-County League title with an 8-1 record and defeated Berkeley Springs, 8-3, in the region semi-final.

Yesterday's shutout was the third of the campaign for Mongold. His 13 strikeouts included a string of seven from the second through the fourth inning.

Moorefield scored in the first inning on miscues by the Martinsburg shortstop, catcher and right fielder.

In the fifth frame, Lester Hyre pounded out a triple and scored the Jackets' second run of the game on Jimmy Vetter's single. Harold Fitzwater doubled, advanced to third on an error and scored the final tally on Jim Barr's sacrifice fly in the sixth inning.

Each Won Three Games
The game marked the sixth meeting of Moorefield and Martinsburg in the Region 4 tourney since 1947 and the score now stands even at three wins each. Nine years ago Moorefield took the regional by winning a best-of-three series from the Bulldogs, then downed Belington in the finals at Elkins, 16-3. The Jackets also won over Martinsburg in 1951 and this year. Martinsburg beat the Hardy countians in 1950, 1954 and 1955.

Cecil Warnick Has 555 At Rochester

Paul Smith, 145 West Main Street, Frostburg, got "into the money" in the National Bowling Congress tournament at Rochester, N. Y., Sunday when he posted a 605 in the singles competition.

It was the highest score turned in by a bowler from this area and will net Smith approximately $35 in prize money. It took a 551 to crash the money.

Cecil Warnick, Potomac Park, was another bowler from this area assured of winning a cash prize. He posted a 555 in the singles.

Four teams from Allegany county participated in the Rochester event, namely, Green's, National Bo, Vandegrift's Music Shop and Del's Recreation of Bowling Green. Approximately 30,000 bowlers took part in the ABC tourney this year.

Moorefield Plays Stoco On Monday At Parkersburg

Moorefield High School's opponent in the opening round of the West Virginia scholastic baseball tournament at Parkersburg, on Monday, May 28, will be Stoco High School, winner of Region 5, according to announcement made yesterday by William R. Fugitt, of Beckley, athletic board secretary.

Stoco beat Webster Springs in the regional final.

Two day games will be played on Monday, May 28. East Bank (No. 7) will meet the winner of Region No. 2 at 1 p. m., at Parkersburg City Park, Huntington Central (No. 8), winner of 23 consecutive games, will play the Region No. 1 victor in the second afternoon tilt.

Two night games will be played on May 28, the first at 6:30 between Greenville (No. 6) and the Region 3 winner. The second game will be between Moorefield and Stoco.

In 1949 Coach Jonathan Paugh's Yellow Jackets lost out in the finals of the state tourney at Charleston, to Huntington East, 5-3.

Two years later, the Hardy County school lost in the semi-finals at Parkersburg to Northfork, 9-8. East Bank beat North Fork in the championship game, 17-3.

Red Wilson's Homer Beats Yankees, 3-2

Ford Suffers First Defeat Of Season At Tigers' Hands

DETROIT, May 22 (AP)—Second string catcher Red Wilson, who had only six hits all season, crashed a two-run home run in the bottom of the ninth inning today and gave the Detroit Tigers a stirring 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees and dealt southpaw Whitey Ford his first loss.

The dramatic clout which followed a lead-off double by Charlie Maxwell broke six-game streaks for both Ford and the Yankees.

Frank Lary, who had lost three one-run games and had only one victory in six decisions, gained the triumph in a tight duel with the Yankee lefthander.

Lary held New York to three harmless singles after a first-inning uprising when the Bombers scored both their runs on four hits.

But Lary came back strong and faced only 19 men in the last six innings—one over the minimum.

Maxwell, who had failed to hit in two official trips against Ford, opened the Detroit ninth with a line double to left center and raced to third when the ball trickled past centerfielder Mickey Mantle.

Then Wilson, who went into the game batting .250, sent Ford's first pitch flying into the lower left field seats for the victory.

After the Yankees staked Ford to the early two-run lead he was almost untouchable until the Tigers reached him for three singles in the eighth, spoiling his bid for a second shutout.

St. Louis Downs Pittsburgh, 6-3

PITTSBURGH, May 22 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals scored two runs in the seventh tonight to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3 and snap a Pirate three-game winning streak. Stan Musial's single, his second of the night, scored what proved to be the winning run.

The victory went to Herm Wehmeier, his first of the year against three defeats. Wehmeier was relieved by Jackie Collum in the seventh.

Neither Wehmeier nor Collum could stop the booming bat of Dale Long, big Pirate first baseman. He had a single and a home run in four trips. The homer was his 10th. He now has a .411 batting average, highest in the majors.

Despite threatening weather, a crowd of 19,316 watched the contest. It was the largest night crowd here since June 6, 1952.

Hyndman High Rally In 6th Downs Beall

Ranker's 3-Run Belt Decides 7-6 Battle

Hyndman High School's Hornets broke a four-game losing streak and snapped Beall High's three-game winning string by beating the Mountaineers yesterday in a Bi-State Baseball Conference game at Hyndman by the score of 7-6.

A five-run explosion decided the contest in the 6th inning after Beall had enjoyed a 6-2 lead. During the big frame Mallow relieved Dave Richards with the bases loaded, one run over and one out. He fanned Gary Lehman and walked Martz to force over a run. Then Ronnie Ranker cleaned the bases with a timely double to put the game on ice.

Lefty Gary Lehman went the route for Hyndman and fanned ten batters. It was his first win of the campaign against one loss Mallow, who pitched to four batters in relief, was charged with the loss.

Ranker paced the Hornets at the plate with a triple, double and single and four RBIs. Stahlman also had three hits including two doubles. Groves obtained two of Beall's nine hits and "Pete" Wilson singled and drew three passes in four trips to the platter. The box:

Gary Riley Cops LaVale Mibs Title

Dave Cope Winner At Centre Street

Gary Riley is the new marbles champion of LaVale School. The sixth grader shot his way to the top spot by defeating last year's champ, Teddy Bennett, in the semi finals yesterday afternoon and then taking two straight from Mike Stone, the other finalist, 7-1 and 7-5.

Riley showed outstanding sportsmanship at one point in the second game when Stone knocked a marble to within a half inch of the ring line and it was stopped by a large pebble. At Riley's suggestion the marble was counted in Stone's favor tying the score. Gary then proceeded to win the game. Miss Phyllis Folk, of the teaching staff, assisted in directing the finals.

Dave Cope was the winner of the Centre Street School title yesterday morning, defeating Wendell Beckwith in the finals, 7-3 and 7-6. There were 26 entries in the tourney.

Others reaching the semi-finals were Jimmy Bowman, 1955 runner-up, and Jack Ruhl. In addition to the 26 boys there were approximately 20 girls in the tourney.

45 Allegany County Boys Are Entered

Sentinels Have Won Six Of Nine Meets; Ramey Is Director

Athletes from approximately forty Class A, B and C schools of Maryland will assemble at College Park Saturday for the annual state track and field meet.

Fort Hill High School is sending 20 boys, Beall High, Frostburg, 18 and Allegany High School seven. The meet will get under way at 10:30 a. m., at which time heats for all dashes in all classes will be held along with all final track events in Classes C and B.

All contestants are limited to three events, two track and one field or one track and two field. There will be 13 events in each class, namely, 100 and 220 yards dashes, 440 and 880 yard and one mile runs, 440, 880 and mile relays, broad jump, high jump, pole vault, shot put and discus throw.

Set For Byrd Stadium
This is the fourth straight year that the state meet is being held at Byrd Stadium in College Park. The first postwar meet was staged at Western Maryland College, Westminster, in 1947 after a meeting consisting of relays and a sprinkling of individual events was staged at College Park in 1946. Dundalk was the scene of action in 1948 and 1949 and McDonough School in 1950, 1951 and 1952.

In the 1946 events, Baltimore City schools were represented. Since then, however, the meets have been restricted to schools which are members of the Maryland Public Secondary Schools Athletic Association. No Baltimore City school has as yet become affiliated with the state association.

Fort Hill Won Six
Fort Hill High School has been returned the winner six times in the nine meets held since the war. Coach William P. Hahn's thinclads won Class "A" honors in 1947, 1949, 1950, 1951, 1952 and 1954. Hagerstown was the 1948 winner. Towson scored in 1953 and Montgomery Blair High of Silver Spring finished on top last year.

Fort Hill was second in 1948, fourth in 1953 and fifth last year. Here's how other Allegany County schools have finished: 1947—Allegany, second, 1948—Allegany, third, 1949—Allegany, fourth, 1951—Beall, thirteenth, 1952—Allegany, ninth, 1953—Allegany, twelfth and Beall fifteenth, 1954—Beall, sixth, and Allegany, fifteenth, 1955—Beall, sixth, and Allegany, twelfth.

Forty-four schools participated in the state meet last year, the largest turnout in nine years.

Ninth Year For Ramey
For the ninth straight year the track meet chairman, who directs the meet, will be Allegany county's Arthur G. Ramey. The other committee members are Herbert R. Steiner, state secretary; Harold Martin, Baltimore County supervisor; Warren R. Evans, Frederick County supervisor, and three track coaches, Edward Reider, of Montgomery Blair; Charles Berry, Salisbury, and Jack Manley, Centerville.

District high school representatives for 1956 are: No. 1—Harry Freshour, Frederick. No. 2—William Yarnall, Northwestern (Hyattsville). No. 3—Stephen Lerda, Hampstead. No. 4—Ernest Snodgrass, Elkton. No. 5—William Jones, Salisbury.

Redlegs Beat New York, 6-3

Robinson, Rookie Outfielder, Stars

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Powered by Frank Robinson's home run, double and single, the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the New York Giants 6-3 today and moved into the battle for first place in the National League pennant race.

Robinson scored two runs, drove in a pair and handled five chances in left field. The rookie outfielder's feats made it possible for Joe Nuxhall to register his first victory of the year. The veteran southpaw, who had lost his first three decisions, permitted only four hits.

Ruben Gomez started for the Giants and turned in an admirable performance for five innings. He had a one-hit shutout and a 3-0 lead until the sixth when a single by Johnny Temple, Robinson's double and an infield out produced the first Cincinnati run.

All Giants runs resulted from home runs. Daryl Spencer followed a walk to Willie Mays in the fourth with his fourth home run and rookie Billy White made it 3-0 in the fifth with his fourth circuit wallop of the season. The loss, charged to Gomez, was his third against one victory.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 22 (INS) — "Bohème," "Madame Butterfly," "The Searchers" — When you see "The Searchers" you'll agree with me that Jeff Hunter is a fine actor. He shares honors with John Wayne and is just as good as Duke, which is no faint praise. On the strength of this picture and other past performances, 20th Century-Fox is building Jeff to top stardom.

He'll have the Henry Fonda role in the remake of "Jesse James," and Bob Wagner, as I told you, will have the Tyrone Power role. Herbert Swope, Jr., who is producing the "James" epic, has signed Nick Ray as the director. To get Ray 20th gave him a multiple picture contract.

The fascinating biography of Giacomo Puccini, the great Italian operatic composer, told in "The Immortal Bohemian" by Father Fiorenzo Dante, will be made into a motion picture by negotiations which Wynn Rocamora is conducting go through as expected.

Father Dante, former secretary to Puccini, represents the family. This would, of course, include "La Bohème," "Madame Butterfly," "La Tosca" and others in the famed Puccini repertoire. And who better than Dorothy Kirsten, who sings these operas so beautifully, for the femme lead?

Puccini died in 1924, leaving an unfinished opera, "Turandot," another composer finished the score, and when it opened at La Scala two years later there was much controversy.

While Errol Flynn was making "Istanbul" in Hollywood he saw pretty Gia Scala at Universal-International. "That's the girl I want for my picture 'The Big Boodle,'" he said. So what Errol wants Errol gets.

Incidentally, this is Gia's first picture. She was brought here by three other Italian girls by U-I over a year ago and has been studying ever since, so this is her first chance to register.

Snaphots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jake Ehrlich, Jr. and Marilyn Morrison, now a real blonde, are enjoying the summer weather together.

At Chasen's, Donald O'Connor and Gloria Noble stopped at our table. They still haven't set their wedding date.

Diana Lynn and Mortimer Hall, at the Captain's Table, have made their dating a steady affair.

For their first engagement in the west the McGuire sisters (who haven't been fired by Godfrey) open June 5 at the Desert Inn in Las Vegas.

Gene Kelly and Betsy Blair, now in Paris, telephoned their daughter Kerry to tell her they'll be home for her graduation from the Beverly Hills High School.

Ann Harding's daughter, Mrs. Jane Otto, of San Francisco, visited Ann on the set of "I've Lived Before" at U-I.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Summerlin Favored To Defeat Carter

DETROIT, May 22 (AP) — A pair of ambitious heavyweights, Johnny Summerlin and Harold Carter, square off in a 10-round nationally televised battle tomorrow night at Detroit's Olympia.

It is billed as another in a series of elimination bouts to find a successor to the title vacated by Rocky Marciano. For both Carter, ranked seventh among the heavyweights, and Summerlin, ranked fifth, it is the first "big" fight.

Carter, who makes his home in Linden, N.J., has had only 21 fights. He has won 18, half of them by knockout.

The bout will be Summerlin's 36th. He has won 29, lost 4 and drawn twice.

The odds-makers have made Summerlin the 8-5 favorite. The bout will be televised (ABC) at 9 p.m. (EST).

Shreve Leaves GWU

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 22 (AP) — James R. Shreve, assistant football and baseball coach at George Washington University, today was named backfield coach at Lehigh University.

The Braves of the Cumberland Little League will hold practice today at 6 p. m. at Allegany Field. Manager Jack Stotter requests all members of the squad and others desiring tryouts to report.

The first round-the-world solo airplane flight was made by Wiley Post in July, 1933.

Overloading the washing machine is damaging to the machine, laundry experts agree. No matter how many pounds of clothes your washer is supposed to hold, the best rule is to see that there is a free runover and movement of the clothes in the tub.

Cord of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were helpful and kind to us in our recent bereavement and sudden death of our beloved husband and father, John McLaughlin. We especially wish to thank those who sent gifts, flowers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

WIFE AND DAUGHTER

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all who aided and comforted us in any way in the recent death of our beloved one, Sarah Catherine Inskip, to our friends, relatives and neighbors who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers from Crusader's Sunday School Class of Trinity Methodist Church. Also we thank Rev. Louis P. Chastain of Trinity Methodist Church for conducting such a comforting service.

Fire Damages D&E College Science Hall

Lightning Bolt Cause Of Blaze

Volunteers from seven fire companies fought a stubborn blaze yesterday at Elkins, W. Va., which caused heavy damage to Science Hall on the campus of Davis and Elkins College.

No one was reported injured in the spectacular fire, caused by a bolt of lightning, although one fireman was overcome by smoke and a member of the college faculty was trapped for a short time on the fourth floor of the building.

Firemen continued to fight the blaze late yesterday afternoon, and it was under control. The fire started about 9 a. m., yesterday during a thunderstorm in that community.

The bolt of lightning was reported to have hit the four-story brick and concrete building in a room on the fourth floor which housed the campus radio station.

Lightning Hits Roof

Mrs. A. E. Fiorentino, head of the drama department, was supervising an examination in an adjoining room, heard the lightning strike. When she saw the resulting smoke she dismissed her class and sounded the alarm to clear the building.

The Elkins fire department rushed to the scene and assistance was given by volunteers from Parsons, Buckhamton, Phillipi, Beldington, Huttonsville and Dailey.

Firemen were hampered by low water pressure and inadequate ladders in combatting the blaze. At least five streams of water were trained on the blazing inferno in an effort to keep the flames confined to the building.

The fire ate its way up through the roof and when flames weakened the fourth and third floors they collapsed onto the second floor.

Students were able to get into the building and save some of the equipment during the early stages of the fire.

Willard Campbell, a volunteer of the Elkins fire department, overcome by the thick smoke, was given first aid and was removed to Memorial General Hospital in that community. He was reported "getting along all right."

Teacher Is Trapped

A member of the college faculty, Dr. Charles E. Albert of the Engineering Department, went into a room on the fourth floor to retrieve some instruments and was trapped momentarily by the heavy smoke.

He dampened his handkerchief, placed it over his face and groped his way to safety.

Final examinations were being given to the college students in the building at the time the fire broke out. Commencement exercises will be held as usual next week.

The Science Hall, which was first occupied in 1926, housed such departments as biology, engineering and botany.

Heavy damage was caused by the fire, smoke and water. Dr. David K. Allen, president of the college, said yesterday that a meeting of the board of trustees has been called and will be held in the near future concerning the devastating blaze.

A full report of the damage was not available and architects and engineers will be called in to determine the damage caused by the fire.

Nancy Andrews Is Fun Fair Queen

Nancy Andrews, 17, of 230 Massachusetts Avenue, was named queen of the South Cumberland Fun Fair at Saturday's final day of the week-long event.

A senior at St. Mary's High School, Miss Andrews won over Dorothy Reynolds, 17, of 907 Virginia Avenue, a Fort Hill High School junior.

Both girls will receive prizes at the next meeting of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association, sponsors of the Fun Fair held at Penn Avenue ball field. Nelson Russler, president of the association, announced the next meeting will be held June 12.

A piano solo, "Ballade," Op. 23,

Victim Of Hit And Run

The unnecessary death of the young deer in the above picture is a scene which occurs too often along the open highway and is not reported to proper authorities. Robert Ott, area resident, is shown above kneeling beside the doe, which reportedly was carrying two fawns at the time of her death. The animal was struck along West Virginia State Route 28 near the intersection of Death Valley Road and was found dead by Ott who lives nearby, and the other four unidentified men in the picture. Ott notified a game warden.

Man Found Hanged In Area Home

A 56-year-old Westernport man was found dead at his home yesterday afternoon.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the death of Francis X. McGreevy, of Riordan Road, was caused by asphyxiation due to strangulation and termed it a suicide.

When the victim was found about 4:30 p. m. by a nephew, Joseph McGreevy, also of Westernport, he was hanging by his neck on the inside of the house. He was living alone and reportedly had been despondent.

Dr. Deming said the hanging took place about 5 a. m. yesterday as McGreevy apparently placed a leather belt around the bracket of a shelf and then around his neck and shoved a stool on which he was standing to the side.

He was found by his nephew who reportedly had not seen him since about Saturday, Officer Burza Hanlin of the Westernport Police force was notified.

A native of Barton, he was born November 19, 1899 and was a son of the late Michael and Anna (Folton) McGreevy. He had resided in the Tri-Towns for about 45 years.

Among his survivors are five children, Mrs. Kathleen Riley, Luke, Mrs. Ann Pamepinto, Piedmont; Mrs. Agnes Schoppert, Piedmont; Miss Margaret McGreevy, and Frances McGreevy, Luke. Also surviving are three brothers, John and Thomas McGreevy of Westernport and Joseph McGreevy, of Piedmont, and two grandchildren.

The body is at the Fredlock Funeral Home, Piedmont.

Committee To Study Special Class Progress

The Allegany County Advisory Committee for Severely Retarded Children will meet at the Board of Education office at 2 p. m. Thursday to study progress made during this first year by the special class for retarded children at LaVale School.

Members of the committee are Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health director; Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools; Mrs. Betty Van Newkirk, clinical psychologist for the County Mental Hygiene Clinic; John Coburn, counselor of the County Vocational Rehabilitation Service; Miss Esther Carter, visiting teacher; Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and Miss M. Jean Camper, supervisor of special education in the county schools.

Dr. Geneva Flickinger, state supervisor of special education, will meet with the committee.

High School Tour Slated For Pupils

Pupils of the sixth grade of public schools of Cumberland will be introduced to the facilities of the junior and senior high school they will enter next fall during a tour planned for today.

The purpose of the tour is to acquaint the pupils with the facilities, provide the answers to a number of usual questions, and to provide a smoother adjustment from grade school to high school. Mimeographed booklets have been prepared by the local high schools and will be distributed to the pupils. Included in the booklets are diagrams of the locations of various rooms, library, gymnasium, cafeteria, and also the various activities and clubs in which pupils may participate.

Programs for the pupils will be held in the auditoriums of Allegany High School, Fort Hill High School and Pennsylvania Avenue School. The pupils will be divided into smaller groups and shown through the buildings.

Pupils To Stage 3-Act Operetta

Ninety Flintstone elementary school pupils will present a three-act operetta "In Fairyland" tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Leading roles will be sung by Virginia Heavner as Judy, Gary Robinette as Jack, Beverly Robinette as their mother, James Wilson as their father, Darlene Whorton as the fairy queen, and Robert Alt as the fairy king.

Others in important roles are Shirley Alt, David Kennedy, Linda Maury, Robert Huff, Beverly Weddell and Wesley Gordon.

The production is under the direction of the elementary teachers, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Ann Thomas, Mrs. Mary Robinette, Mrs. Ethel Fletcher, Mrs. Hazel Bottenfield, Miss Wilda Winterberg, William Brake, Raymond Ralston, and the music instructor, Mrs. Alene Yoder.

Two Calls Checked

City firemen received two calls yesterday. In the alarm received at 11:23 a. m. a fire was checked at 1105 Kentucky Avenue by South End firemen.

About 3 o'clock yesterday firemen at Central station received a call that a box car was on fire in the vicinity of Beall Street.

West Side was sent to the scene and it is believed that an overheated journal box on a B&O freight traveling east caused the smoke.

$426,004 Spent On Road Jobs Within County

A report showing that $426,004.38 has been spent in the first ten months of the current fiscal year on two road projects in Allegany County was submitted to the Board of County Commissioners yesterday by the State Roads Commission.

The report disclosed that $347,500.54 has gone to the Mt. Savage School Road and $78,503.84 for the county road linking State Route 51 and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch between last July 1 and April 30 of this year.

As of July 1, the SRC had a cash balance of $306,463.72 for projects in Allegany County. Since then $92,150 has been received in federal aid and $84,712 from the county commissioners.

Several small charges coupled with the $426,044.38 spent on the two roads, has brought the cash balance of April 30 down to $56,094.46. To replenish that balance the SRC is expecting $459,100 more in federal aid and $8,150.44 from the county commissioners, which would up the estimated balance to $523,344.90.

The county commissioners yesterday also granted renewal for another year beginning July 1 of 9.1 acres of land bordering the city limits of Cumberland which has been used for Navy and Marine Corps Reserve purposes. The application was made by direction of the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, acting under direction of the Secretary of the Navy.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officers, asked the county commissioners to meet with the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland and representatives of the State Health Department June 5 or 7 to discuss the workings of the County Health Department budget under the Case Plan.

Kind Policeman Proves Good Character Judge

HAGERSTOWN, May 22 (P) — Cops have to be pretty good judges of character.

Take Patrolman William Giffin. He spotted an elderly woman weeping at the wheel of her car early today. She identified herself as Mrs. Catherine Briggs of Tulsa, Okla., and told Giffin she had left her purse, containing $900, at a motel some 50 miles to the west where she had spent the night.

Besides being a good judge of character, Giffin also is careful. He called the motel (Shipways Inn) and confirmed Mrs. Briggs' story with the proprietor, who had found the purse.

Then he staked Mrs. Briggs to $10 for gas to get back to the motel, and asked her to leave the money at a service station as she came back through Hagerstown. She did.

Road-e-o Test Planned Today

The final written examination for teen-age drivers who plan to compete in the fourth annual Teen-age Road-e-o, sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, will be given between 3 and 5 p. m. today at Central YMCA, according to Alvin Goodman, committee chairman.

The driving competition is scheduled for 1 p. m. Sunday on the Winecof Street A&P Market parking lot, where the previous tests have been conducted. The obstacles are designed to show the skill of drivers and there is no emphasis on speed.

Fort Hill Water Tank Is Painted

Work On Braddock Bowl Begins Today

The reconditioning of the Fort Hill water tank was completed yesterday and crews of the Dixie Tank and Bridge Company will move today to the Braddock water tank.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said the firm did a "splendid" job of scaling and painting the 500,000-gallon tank at Fort Hill, and that it should give many years of trouble-free service. The crew, he said, will move today to the 100,000-gallon Braddock tank.

To maintain service while the steel tank is being scaled, repaired and painted, an auxiliary pump will be set up to maintain pressure in lines served by the tank.

To Hold Pressure

Commissioner Edwards said the pump will have to maintain a 200-pound pressure at that point to provide normal water service. Similar auxiliary pressure was maintained by the portable pumping unit during the work on the Fort Hill tank.

One more maintenance job remains in the city, he said, and that will be done this summer.

This consists of repairs and caulking of the top courses of the concrete slabs which comprise the Fort Hill reservoir.

A similar job was done last year at the Ridgedale reservoir to repair damage caused by exposure to the weather. Lower courses which are filled with water at all times were found to be in good condition when the Fort Hill bowl was cleaned recently.

Visit Filter Plant

Commissioner Edwards and Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday inspected work on the contact basins at the Lake Gordon filter plant.

Crews of the Hazelwood Company, Edwards said, were making good progress on paving the sloping sides of the two contact basins which will serve as combined mixing and flocculation beds for the modernized filter plant.

The slopes of the 45-foot circular reinforced concrete structures are being poured without inside forms and shaped with a wooden form, bolted to the center of the base and rotated to shape the sides.

Most of the equipment for the basins, Edwards said, is on the site and will be set in place when the big bowls are completed.

Perrin Takes Agents Course

Dennis E. Perrin, a member of the staff of Perrin and Perrin, local insurance and real estate firm, will graduate today from an advanced training course for agents, being conducted by the Glens Falls Insurance Company, Glens Falls, N. Y.

He is the third generation member of the agency, which has represented the insurance firm here for nearly 50 years.

The school has been in session for over four weeks. It provided intensive instruction in the fundamentals of multiple line underwriting for fire, inland marine, casualty and bonding classes of insurance. Included were the newest developments in insurance for nuclear energy risks.

Perrin, who is 27, entered the firm two years ago after completing service in the Army. He lives on Camden Avenue.

He will return immediately to Cumberland to take up his duties with Perrin and Perrin, which was established here in 1899.

Celanese Declares Dividends On Stock

Directors of Celanese Corporation of America yesterday declared a dividend of 12½ cents a share on common stock, payable June 22 to holders of record June 4, 1956.

The board also voted regular quarterly dividends of 12½¢ on preferred stock, Series A, and $1.75 on the 7 per cent second preferred stock. Both preferred stock dividends are payable July 1 to holders of record as of June 4.

Picnic Areas Ready For Motorists

11 Are Located In Western Maryland

The Maryland State Roads Commission has spruced up 11 picnic areas located on roads in Western Maryland in anticipation of a record tourist season.

Throughout Maryland, SRC crews have placed all of the state's 95 picnic areas in top condition. Over 500,000 people made use of the facilities during last year's tourist season, the SRC estimated.

Five of the roadside picnic sites are located in Allegany County — all of them along historic Route 40.

The largest, six miles west of here, is equipped with four fireplaces and eight tables, and has space for parking 20 cars.

The others are located on the Baltimore Pike, 19, 21, 22 and 24 miles east of the Queen City.

In all, the roadside areas in this county provide four fireplaces, 16 picnic tables, space for 36 cars and — to allow tourists to leave the sites as clean as they found them, 10 trash cans.

In Garrett County, a picnic area is located on Route 40 three miles west of Grantsville.

Three sites are located on U. S. 219, the first about three miles north of Oakland, the second 11 miles and the third 11.1 miles north of Oakland.

Land For Flood Contract Will Cost $80,000

Appraisers Report On Sections 2 & 3

Real estate acquisition for Section 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program is expected to cost about $80,000.

A Real Estate Appraisal Report, prepared by the Corps of Engineers and delivered yesterday to the City of Cumberland lists the value of the land and easements needed for the work at $79,603.

The land, most of it along the left, or east bank of the creek, is needed for new flood walls and for the Viaduct pumping station.

The report indicates the government's share of the real estate acquisition will be $26,832 and the city's share $52,721.

87 Tracts needed

Needed are 87 tracts of land, including one parcel to be acquired by the government, three by the city and 82 to be purchased jointly by the city and the government.

The land needed totals 20.85 acres, including 12.9 acres needed by the government and 4.77 acres to be acquired by the city. The city must also get temporary rights to 3.1 acres of land needed during construction.

No families will be dispossessed by the project, which will take 13 garages, three commercial buildings and 12 porches.

The values were set by James A. Perrin, appraiser for the City of Cumberland, and Ralph W. Thomas, appraiser for the Corps of Engineers, and reviewed by T. H. Becker, chief appraiser for the Washington District, Corps of Engineers.

Values of the land and easements involved were set figures ranging from a nominal $1 up.

Some Costs Nominal

Some of the federal acquisition includes the bed of the creek, and such tracts are being acquired for the nominal rate of $1, based on a value of two cents a square foot for creek bed land.

In most cases, the land needed for the work lies directly along the bed of the creek, except where areas will be needed during construction.

Officials said the land acquisition program is well along.

A recent report on land acquisition for Section 4 of the channel work indicates costs below the Market Street Bridge to the mouth of the Potomac River will be about $2,654.

The costs will include $948 for federal needs and $1,706 for parcels needed by the city.
